R U Ready? Five Steps to Disaster Preparedness

1. TALK - with your family or support network about disasters that could happen on the Southern Oregon Coast such as home fires, wildfire, windstorms, flooding, earthquakes, terrorism and hazardous material accidents. Ask an out-of-state friend or family member to be your “family” contact. Make the contact information a part of your family communication plan and all members of your household should have that information. Discuss what to do in an evacuation. Plan how to take care of your pets.
2. TRAIN - all members. Take first aid classes. Learn to use a fire extinguisher. Locate your utility shut off valves and know when and how to turn off your gas, electricity and water. Make sure all responsible people in the household have this knowledge or training. Pick two places to meet:
  - The first should be right outside of your home or place of business in case of a sudden emergency, like a fire, and the second should be outside the neighborhood in case you can't return home or are asked to evacuate the neighborhood. Everyone must know the address and phone number of the meeting locations.
3. TAKE STOCK - of supplies you may already have on hand that would be helpful in a disaster. Involve the whole family in collecting and assembling supplies of food, water and emergency tools. Know what resources are available in your neighborhood and community: Who has a generator, who has medical training, who might have a chainsaw, etc. Know who in your neighborhood is going to need additional help and what you can do to assist them. Do a Home Hazard Hunt. Check to make sure you have insurance coverage. Install smoke and CO2 detectors if needed on each level of your home. Determine the best escape routes from your home. Find two ways out of each room. Find safe spots in each room of your home.
4. TELL - everyone in the household where emergency contact information will be kept. Post a copy on your refrigerator, keep another with your emergency supplies and in your purse, wallet or backpack. Make sure you have included an out-of-state contact.
5. TEST - your readiness on a regular basis. Review your family disaster plan and go through supplies at least once a year. Commit to a day or weekend to update phone numbers, hold family fire and earthquake drills and check supplies.
