LIHEAP

Low Income Home Energy Assistance Program

Oregon Coast Community Action Accepting Applications Beginning October 3

LIHEAP is a federal program established in 1981 and funded annually by Congress through the Department of Health and Human Services.

LIHEAP offers financial assistance to qualifying low-income households to help pay heating or cooling bills. Both homeowners and renters are eligible for LIHEAP.

The LIHEAP payment is made directly to the energy provider.

The amount of financial assistance a household is eligible to receive from LIHEAP is based on household size, income, documented energy costs, and other factors in the current program year.

Under federal law, to be eligible for LIHEAP, the household income must be at or below 60 percent of Oregon's median income. Reference the list at the left for income limits.

If you received assistance from LIHEAP last year, an application will be mailed to you. If you did NOT receive LIHEAP funding last year, or if your address has changed, you will need to pick up an application at Oregon Coast Community Action (ORCCA), 1855 Thomas Ave (off of LaClair Street), Coos Bay, 541-435-7080, ext. 369, or at any one of Coos County's libraries: <http://www.cooslibraries.org/>

Your LIHEAP application needs to be mailed or hand delivered directly to ORCCA at the address listed on the LIHEAP application.

If you have questions regarding your LIHEAP application, need assistance in completing your LIHEAP application, or need copies made, please stop by or call the CIHA office at 541-888-6501 and speak with Dale or Tracey.

All (or a lot) of Oregon's History is Online

While looking at some Oregon State Library brochures, I learned about some web pages with a lot of information on Oregon's history.

Visit Read All About It, Oregon (library.state.or.us/blogs/readallaboutitoregon/wordpress/) for access to Oregon history and regional news. The website recently featured articles on a building in tsunami zones and state standards for memory care facilities in Oregon.

Oregon Digital (www.oregondigital.org) maintains links to multiple Oregon archival web sites with archived photos, artwork, sound recordings and documents.

Oregon Historic Photograph Collection (photos.salemhistory.net) features Oregon historic photographs spanning from the 1840s to the present. Oregon Archives, the Statesman Journal and famed Oregon photographer Ben Maxwell are available here.

The Oregon Historical Society (www.ohs.org/museum/exhibits) has information on many of their exhibits online. As expected, the society covers diverse topics, events and people relevant to Oregon including exhibits on Oregon based comic book artists, the story of Fred Meyer (the person, not the store he founded), and the Portland police.

Oregon's tribes are also represented by the Oregon Historical Society. The Confederated Tribes of Grand Ronde has worked with them on an online exhibit located at www.ohs.org/museum/exhibits/the-confederated-tribes-of-grand-ronde.cfm. The exhibit talks about the 27-plus tribes and bands that make up the Grand Ronde Tribes along with information on important places like Willamette Falls (where the Grand Ronde harvest lamprey to this day), and famous people like Kalliah Tumulth, the daughter of whose father was Willamette Valley Treaty signer Chief Tumulth. Kalliah is known for many things including working to preserve native fishing rights in the late 19th century.

The Oregon History Project (<https://oregonhistoryproject.org>) is another OHS sponsored page that includes an online encyclopedia of Oregon history, an interactive map identifying significant places, people and events in Oregon, and several historical records of native peoples including a map of southwest Oregon villages, 19th century photographs of Chinookan canoes, and information on Celilo Falls.

Finally, a PBS produced documentary on Captain Jack and the Modoc War is available online at www.opb.org/television/programs/oregonexperience/episodes/602/.

October is designated as National Fire Prevention Month with roots dating back to The Great Chicago Fire of 1871. Most fire departments designate the 2nd week of October as Fire Prevention Week. Below are some awareness tips to help make and keep your family and home safe from fire.

1. Test your smoke alarms monthly.
2. Don't overload circuits/extension cords.
3. Unplug appliances and other electrical devices when not in use.
4. Make sure portable heat sources have at least 3 feet of open area around them.
5. Know and practice your fire escape route with every family member, include pets.
6. Clean your dryer lint trap EVERY time you dry a load of clothes. Check your dryer vent often to ensure proper venting. Clean the vent every few months to eliminate lint buildup.
7. Use caution during the holidays; check holiday lights for broken or frayed wires before hanging.
8. Do not leave holiday lights on when you are not at home or when you go to bed.
9. Use extreme caution with candles; supervise closely when burning candles around children and pets.
10. Conduct regular inspections of your electronic equipment and wiring.
11. Do not use indoor-rated extension cords outside.
12. Don't plug multiple extension cords together.
13. Keep a fire extinguisher in both your kitchen and garage area (at a minimum) and make sure family members know how to operate the fire extinguishers.
