Daylight Saving Time Ends at 2:00 a.m. on Sunday, November 4th

Daylight saving time (DST) will end on Sunday, November 4th at 2:00 a.m.

Daylight saving time will begin in 2019 on Sunday, March 10th at 2:00 a.m.

Fun Facts ~

It is "Daylight Saving Time" (singular), not "Daylight Savings Time" (plural).

1784: The idea of DST was first conceived by Benjamin Franklin.

1914 - 1918:

Britain goes on DST during WWI.

March 19, 1918:

The Standard Time Act established time zones and daylight saving. Daylight saving was repealed in 1919, but continued to be recognized in certain areas of the U.S.

1945 - 1966:

There was no federal law regarding DST.

1966: The Uniform Time Act of 1966 established the system of uniform DST throughout the U.S.

DST began on the last Sunday in April; DST ended on the last Sunday in October. States could exempt themselves from participation.

1974 - 1975: Congress extended DST in order to save energy during the energy crisis.

1986 - 2006: DST began on the first Sunday in April; DST ended on the last Sunday in October.

August 8, 2005:

President George W.

Bush signed the

Energy Policy Act

of 2005 into law.

Beginning in 2007, DST

began on the second Sunday in March; DST ended on the first Sunday in November.

2007: All of Indiana began observing DST, only certain areas did before.

In the U.S., Hawaii and most of Arizona still do not follow DST. Neither do the U.S. territories of Puerto Rico, Northern Mariana Islands, Guam, American Samoa, and the Virgin Islands.

Many countries near the equator do not adjust their clocks for DST. About 70 countries around the world currently observe DST.
